Privacy Policy

Last updated: 27 November 2026. Kindwired is run by Jay Suter on the Gold Coast, Queensland, Australia. Contact: jaysuter@kindwired.io

What I collect

When you download or buy, Whop shares your name, email address and order details with me. Whop processes your card or wallet payment, so I never see your full card details.

If you email me, I keep that email so I can help you.

How I use it

To deliver your files and updates, answer your questions, handle refunds, and keep business and tax records.

I'll only send you marketing emails if you've signed up for them, and you can unsubscribe at any time.

What I don't do

I don't sell or rent your personal information. I don't ask for health information, and you don't need to share any to use the tools. Anything you write in a downloaded file stays on your own device.

Where it's stored

Your order information is stored by Whop and by the email provider I use, which may store data outside Australia.

Ask KC

Ask KC sends your question to Cloudflare Workers AI to write a reply. A random ID is saved in your browser to count your 10 free questions. To stop the limit being dodged, we also count questions against a scrambled version of your IP address that can't be turned back into the address. Kindwired keeps only these counts, not your questions.

Cookies

kindwired.io and the Whop checkout use cookies needed to run the site and process your order.

Access, correction and complaints

Email jaysuter@kindwired.io to see, correct or delete the information I hold about you. If you're not happy with my reply, you can contact the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner at oaic.gov.au.